Statutory Language

The regulations governing the Special Payroll are based on two statutory sources:

CGS10a-20 and CGS10a-108(a) governing the appointment of professional staff at the University.

Under these statutes, the University uses the Special Payroll for certain types of short term, temporary, seasonal, and, part-time professional staffing needs. Temporary services typically involve less than six months of continuous employment. For more details please reference Special Payroll Policy.

PageUp

Human Resources utilizes PageUP People, a cloud-based applicant tracking system with recruitment and onboarding modules, for special payroll. This new system has replaced UConn’s Special Payroll Authorization Request system (SPAR).

Access to PageUp and Quick Step guides can be found HR’s website here.

Special Payroll offer letters can be found within the PageUp requests or on HR’s website here.

Compensation & Deadlines

Each academic year beginning August 23, compensation for Adjunct Faculty and Graduate special payroll appointments are subject to change dependent upon their corresponding contractual agreements. For up-to-date compensation rates please visit our website.

Due to the high volume of payroll authorizations preceding academic semesters and intersessions, HR and Payroll provide processing deadline dates. It is important that departments abide by these deadlines since late submissions may risk a delayed first paycheck, expose the University to non-compliance with federal law as no employee should begin working without a completed I-9 on file, and some first-time temporary employees (i.e., Adjuncts) must make an irrevocable retirement election by end of their first day of employment, in compliance with state requirements. To view these deadlines please visit our website.

Special Payroll Employee Benefits

Individuals hired on Special Payroll do not receive benefits, although they may purchase medical coverage at group rates by contacting Human Resources, Employment Benefits at 486-3034 or Benefits@uconn.edu. More information can be found on the HR website.
Type of Work Definitions

Administrative: Provides administrative support to an Office or Program. The individual must have some level of discretion to carry out duties (otherwise, it is a clerical appointment and should not be employed on Special Payroll).

Course Support: Provides academic support to the instructor of UConn credit course or degree program (e.g. advising, grading, tutoring, etc.) or supervises a non-traditional course (e.g. independent study, clinical, practica).

Non-Credit Instruction: Instructs or provides support to a non-credit course. The audience is typically non-UConn students.

Research: Studies or assists with the study of a particular topic or field.

Service: Provides instruction or outreach to benefit the external community.

Teaching: Instructs (as Instructor of Record) a traditional UConn credit course, which typically includes a regular lecture component, to UConn students.

Type of Request Definitions

New Hire: Initial appointment within a specific job search.

Rehire: Subsequent appointment within the same job search as the initial appointment. This appointment will have a new start date and will activate a new appointment in Core-CT.

Data Change: Request used to make updates to current appointment, such as extending end dates for up to a total of 1 year and updating total allotments/stipends or course information, etc. The data change request should have the same start date as the current appointment and the record should already be active in Core-CT. This type of request will replace the original request in its entirety.

Graduate Special Payroll Titles

Graduate students may be appointed to extra-compensatory assignments that occur outside the normal academic year (i.e., Winter Intersession, May Term, Summer Sessions). These titles are to be used by Graduate students only outside of the normal academic year. Please refer to Article 34 of the GEU Contract for more details.

Any work that is not teaching, conducting research, or similar/directly related work to the Graduate student’s assistantship must go on Student Labor as it is not considered Bargaining Unit work. Graduate students who complete their degree in May should not be hired under Graduate special payroll titles during summer sessions and, instead, should be hired under the general special payroll titles.

During winter and May intersessions, Dual Employment forms are required for Graduate Students who hold a Research Graduate Assistantship during the academic year. This Dual Employment form should include the academic year GAship, the special payroll appointment, and any other compensated appointments (i.e. Student Labor, 2nd special payroll appointment, work with other state agencies). Graduate Students who hold a Teaching Graduate Assistantship during the academic year will only need to complete a dual employment form during winter or May intersession if they are working any other compensated appointments (i.e. Student Labor, 2nd special payroll appointment, work with other state agencies) outside of their academic year GAship. To help decrease processing times please indicate the type of academic year GAship in the comments of the request.

During the summer, Dual Employment forms are required if the Graduate Student is also working other compensated appointments (i.e. Student Labor, 2nd special payroll appointment, work with other state agencies).
